Elkins, whose home is at 354 Broadway, is single and a veteran of both Army and Navy service. His Army tour of duty extended from October, 1938 to March, 1943. Airborne Lobsters

Will Be Sent From Rockland
To New York Beginning
May 15

Air Lanes, Inc., will begin daily deliveries of live Maine lobsters from Rockland to New York May 15, it was announced today by David A. Couture, president, upon his return to civilian life following four years in the U. S. Navy and Coast Guard.

Plans call for two flights daily in company-owned DC-3 cargo planes from Maine to New York in order to serve the expanding local market which, Couture estimates, consumed about 6,000,000 pounds of lobsters in 1945.

The primary attributes of airborne lobsters is freshness, longer life and appreciably less spoilage, declared Couture, who estimated that his company will require but three hours to complete ocean-to-dealer deliveries.

A further step in the interest of speedy handling and delivery consists of company owned refrigerator trucks which transport the lobsters from the airport to the dealer.

Air Lanes, Inc., personnel is largely made up of former fliers and all are ex-servicemen. In addition to David A. Couture, president, who served as a flier in the Coast Guard, the company executives are: G. E. Barker, treasurer, former U. S. Coast Guard flier; Hubert A. McNally, Jr., General Sales Manager, former U. S. Army flier; Clifford A. Giddings, Jr., office manager, former U. S. Army flier; and Clyde Young, U. S. Coast Guard.

Company offices are at 107 William street, New York 7.

McLOON ANSWERS QUESTIONS

Makes Reply To Sixteen Points Raised—With Dignity And No Evasion

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Under your "Questions Asked" article last Tuesday you state that many people would like to have me answer a list of questions.

I am glad to do this even though it taxes my time, but I do not wish to become involved in a weekly controversy and anybody will have to contact me personally if they want further information.

I am answering your questions in order:

1.—The Rotary traffic plan amendment will probably be introduced at the meeting April 8.

2.—The area will be from Summer street, which is at the end of the solid business section, to Pleasant or Park, probably Park.

3.—There will be no additional police officers needed to control the traffic in this area because with one line of traffic and all cars from the side streets turning the same way with it, there will be no congestion. Even with a car parked double for unloading there will be no hold-up because with one-way traffic there will be no cars to contend with from the opposite direction.

4.—The cost for signs necessary will be less than $200 as all the streets from Union to Main, in the area from Park to Summer, now have one-way signs with the exception of Lindsey street.

5.—If necessary, a blinker light on Limerock street will cost $56 a year. There can be no progress without changes and there can be no radical change without some expense. However, these expenses are a mere bagatelle compared with the $14,000 snow-plow that the last administration bought but nobody batted an eyelash over that.

6.—There are no special city records about Main street traffic. I have no recollection of anybody being killed but people have been knocked down and injured and cars have been smashed. Everybody has seen traffic held up and tangled with the resulting delays under the present system.

7.—Proper enforcement of present traffic laws will not be a remedy for the present traffic situation as it will not prevent cars coming out from the curb, cars stopping for unloading passengers or goods, and cars turning left against traffic in a two-way traffic Main street. It will give a more frequent turn-over of parking facilities.

8.—Yes, rotary traffic should be in effect the year round. It speeds up traffic so that more cars can pass through and facilitate the removal of snow.

9.—Many trucks have business on Main street. Most of those that don't are now using Union or Broadway.

11.—Talbot avenue and Summer street have been surveyed. They will accommodate the largest trucks.

12.—Fire trucks will not be obliged to run against traffic. If they want, however, they can run against it as in the past, and with one-way traffic cars can give them plenty of room to pass.

13.—With one-way traffic, cars could park on one side of Union street better than they can with two-way traffic, but from Limerock to Summer there are very few cars parked anyway and it might be well to restrict parking for that short distance.

14.—People from out of town would very soon adapt themselves to the new rules and I am sure they will like them for it simplifies driving. They will be extended even courtesy and simply instructed and warned for first offenses.

15.—Parking would be permitted on both sides of Main street, all headed north. The street is not wide enough for diagonal parking, as it is necessary to back too far out into the street when so parked.

16.—The Council only wants to act for the best interest of the city, in-

Ash Point Airport

Papers Signed Here and Returned To Washington For Final Signature

Permit papers for operation of the Ash Point Airport were received in the office of the City Manager yesterday. These were signed, and returned to Washington for final signature by the Navy. A period of one week is expected to pass before the final exchange of papers is completed and the airport officially under the city.

Under a lease entered into by the Navy and the city on Oct. 1, 1943, the airport may be taken over at any time by the government, in event of a national emergency. In other words, the city controls and maintains the field in peacetime with the government having the right to claim it for its exclusive use at any time it is deemed necessary in the interests of the nation.

The city has the right to lease the field to such operators and airlines as it may see fit, remaining, however, the party responsible at all times for its upkeep. The pending leases with Maine Air Cargo Express Inc. passes that responsibility along to them, relieving the city of that financial burden.

The government reserved the right to use in their present position, or remove, buildings now on the field and which are Navy property, for purposes of veteran housing.

The permit to use the airport is controlled entirely by the original contract and in accordance with the Airport Operating Agreement with the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Present city officials are bound by that agreement.

New Prison Warden

The State Prison operations will be directed after May 1 by a 37-year-old World War Two veteran and State Police official, Francis J. McCabe of Augusta, who was released from the Army a few weeks ago with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Gov. Hildreth and his Executive Council today approved the appointment of McCabe by State Institutional Commissioner Harrison C. Greenleaf, who said he had accepted Francis J. Welch's resignation, effective May 1. Welch wrote to Greenleaf that he desired to devote full time to personal business. The prison post pays $103 weekly, with living quarters and other maintenance.

New Traffic Code

Read These Instructions—
They May Save You Paying a Fine

The new Traffic Code of the City of Rockland is in effect right now, having become law today. By the way, have you had a ticket yet? Sergeant James Breen of the police is assigned solely to traffic duty and the enforcement of the rulings of the new ordinance in the business district. His control of traffic extends all over the city, however.

One hour parking is in effect in all areas of the business district which are so marked. A routine patrol will be maintained and cars, regardless of ownership, tagged promptly when they exceed the one hour limit. Cars containing Saturday sightseers, with a person sitting behind the wheel, and which have been in the habit of spending hours on the streets Saturday afternoon and night will come under the ruling as well.

The restrictions of the code also apply to all persons operating vehicles owned or used in the service of the Municipal, County, State or Federal government as well as Mr. Average Citizen, except as otherwise permitted under certain conditions. According to Section 406 of the code, operators of passenger vehicles are permitted to load or unload passengers in Bus Stop areas at times when it will not interfere with the buses, either arriving or departing. Parking in these areas is prohibited.

Vehicles having a carrying capacity of 3,000 pounds or more, being more than 18 feet in length or more than 8 feet in width including load, or which shall have an overall height, with load, of 12 feet 6 inches may not park on the street of the city at any time except when actually loading or unloading. This is covered by Section 409 of the code.

Motorists are prohibited from following fire apparatus closer than a distance of 200 feet while that apparatus is on the way to a fire. Exceptions are public officials on official business at the time.

Traffic violation tickets must be turned in to the Police Station promptly. Parking in front of a hydrant carries a charge of $2; in front of a theatre, $1 and incorrect or overtime parking in other restricted places, 75 cents. Persistent violators will have an opportunity to meet Judge Dwinall or Recorder Strout—officially.

Copies of the complete traffic code are available at the office of the City Clerk.

JOINT AUXILIARY MEETING

A joint meeting of Williams-Brazier Unit, Thomaston; Arrey-Heal Unit, Camden; Storer-Collins Unit, of Union and Winslow-Holbrook-Merritt Unit, Rockland, American Legion Auxiliary, will be held in Legion hall, Monday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Affie M. Leech of Kennebunk, Department President, will make her official visit at this time. The meeting will be conducted by the Williams-Brazier Unit, Mrs. Avis Brazier, president. A program is planned and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Though baseball is momentarily halted by weather conditions, in every available dry place, passing and the sound of new gloves being broken in, is common. This year's Rockland High School squad promises well under the able hands of Coach Willett and Mr. Clunie, plans to go places.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

"I read your article about the black seal seen in Thomaston last Sunday afternoon" writes Mrs. Archie Rackliff of South Thomaston. "We saw three dogs chasing a black cat Sunday morning. They ran within 30 feet of our kitchen window so we had a chance to see it clearly. They dove it across our field into the water of the cove below our house. It was swimming in a northerly direction when last seen. In our opinion it is the same animal that was seen in Thomaston."

The ever interesting story of the Holy Ghost and Us Society, now known as "Kingdom, Inc." will be told by Alton Hall Blackington tonight in his weekly broadcast over WBZ at 7.30 o'clock. Details of the Corone's voyage, which sent Rev. Frank W. Sandford to Federal Prison will be given. April 26 Alton will broadcast another "Romance Of Penobscot Bay," and he calls it one of his best.

Mayflowers are common enough in April, but perhaps not quite so early as April 1 when Mrs. Edward Wood picked a bunch on the Samoset road. Boy, did they smell nice!

Daily papers announce the death of A. K. Perry, who was formerly a lieutenant on the staff of Rev. Frank W. Sandford, erstwhile Rockland ball player who founded the Holy Ghost and Us Society. Capt. Perry was known as "Commodore" of the Sandford fleet of vessels, and was often at Rockland and Camden where the ships were repaired. If I am not mistaken he was once a resident of Camden.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

DAFFODILS

Faire daffadills, we weep to see
You haste away so soon;
As yet the early-rising sun
Has no attained his noon.
Stay, stay,
Until the hastening day
Has run
But to the even-song:
And, having prayed together, we
Will goe with you along.
We have short time to stay as you,
We have short time to spring;
As quick a growth, to meet decay,
As you or anything.
We die,
As your hours do, and drier
Like to the Summer's raine,
Away,
Or as the peardies of morning's dew,
Ne'er to be found againe.

[EDITORIAL]

Five States and parts of 18 others will observe daylight saving time beginning April 23, while the remainder will continue on standard time. Among the cities adopting the system Boston, New York and Philadelphia, and among the states which will adopt it on a statewide basis are all of those in New England save Maine, where it will be optional in the communities. This latter is unfortunate because of the confusion which naturally arises. Here in Rockland the sentiment has always been preponderantly in favor of "Summer time" in the Summer season. During the two World Wars it was in force as an emergency measure, but it has always seemed to us that the Spring and Summer months fully answer the purpose, giving full opportunity for recreation and extra tasks aside from customary employment.

The confidence which they have in Representative Margaret Chase Smith, at the National Capital, is shown by her selection as a member of the advisory committee on subjects of Republican origin forums to be conducted by liberal Republicans from now until election time. The advisory committee, sponsored by Harold E. Stassen will have a score of members who will meet two or three times a year conducting meantime an extensive correspondence to the end that there may be a development and broader circulation of Republican policies. Mrs. Smith's persistence and zeal in getting at the inwardness of matters led to her invitation to become a member of this committee and that the choice will be well rewarded, we have no doubt.

THE EXTENT TO WHICH THE UNITED STATES NAVY IS BEING BROUGHT BACK TO A PEACETIME BASIS may be judged from the fact that it demobilized 62,304 of its personnel in the week ending March 23, 1946, to bring its grand total since Aug. 17 to 1,986,190 and stayed ahead of schedule. The peak day of separations was 12,428 on March 18. The Marine Corps released 6,656 during the week ending March 23 to bring its total to 281,923 and stay ahead of schedule. The Coast Guard separated 4,810 during the week ending March 23 to bring its total to 106,556 and also remained ahead of schedule.

A glimpse at the Rockland fish arrivals, published in each issue of The Courier-Gazette, must be a revelation to many citizens of the growing importance of this great industry. It may not be an idle estimate to say that more than 80 per cent of our citizens seldom, if ever, actually visit our waterfront, and are hence in ignorance of the fine plants which have been constructed there in recent years, and of the great quantities of fresh fish which are daily brought to port. The fisheries constitute the most important cog in our industrial prosperity and it is time the public has a better realization of the fact and of how much the city owes to the men who are giving the situation such an energetic and intelligent handling.

THE DE LUXE streamlined cars which many railroads are planning sound very inviting. But a continuing flow of letters from our readers makes it plain that no number of new features designed for their comfort will offset the discomfort of being constantly subjected to tobacco smoke and smell while traveling. Thus we hope that a feature stressed by one road—air travel in the side walks of each pair of seats—does not mean the railroad companies are giving up their efforts to confine smoking to certain cars.

Enforcement appears to be a difficult problem. But humorous printed appeals have succeeded in some instances. In others, city ordinances forbidding smoking on public conveyances have worked with little opposition. And many restaurants and theaters have banned smoking on their premises. It might prove effective, too, if bus drivers, trainmen, and porters handed notices to offending passengers stating it to be a rule of the company that smoking is allowed only in certain cars and that the employees must see that the rule is obeyed.

If the number of smokers has increased to such an extent that one or two smoking cars are no longer sufficient, then why not set aside cars for nonsmokers? Surely nonsmokers, too, have their rights.—Christian Science Monitor.

One year ago, Mrs. Katherine Derry was elected president of Shakespeare Society—Supt. Gray of Waldoboro announced that he would not seek re-election. — Mrs. Emma Meservy, suffering from smoke inhalation, was removed from a burning building.—Robert Shaw, 5, fell and broke his right arm.—Among the deaths: South Thomaston, Mrs. Lorena Allen, 79; Rockland, Mrs. Edgar Conant, 22; Rockland, James A. Rollins, 78; Rockland, Mrs. Harold W. Davis, 51.

And It's a "Double Header" For Camden Community Hospital

The combined drive for funds for the Camden Community Hospital opens Monday for the two weeks ending April 27. No drive was held during 1945, so this is a "double-header." Parsons Plumbing Shop may have started the donation ball rolling again, however, with a gift of approximately six months worth of bottled gas used by the hospital.

Miss Beale Bowers, chairman, has also received financial donations to be credited to the coming drive from the State of Maine Blueberry Growers, Inc., at West Rockport; from the Knox County Trust Co., and from Mr. William E. Reed, Mrs. Walter Rich, Sr., Kendrick Libby and John T. Hughes.

Members of the Initial Gifts Committee are A. Burton Stevenson, Jr., Gilbert Harmon, Elmer Joyce and Gilbert Laite.

Rotary Traffic
Councilman Albert C. McLoon stated this morning that he would introduce an ordinance at the meeting of City Council Monday night, containing the Rotary Traffic Plan. This plan was originally introduced as an amendment to the Traffic Code, but was held up at the request of citizens who appeared to oppose it.
McLoon answers several questions on the plan elsewhere in this edition, clarifying the situation somewhat and defining the boundaries of the plan as he will introduce it.
The ballot originally scheduled for publication in this issue and which would have permitted the public to vote on the plan, will be published Tuesday. This will permit the readers to learn the results of the meeting in which the ordinance is introduced and the exact system introduced before they make their choice.

'Army Day' Tomorrow

And It Will Be Widely Celebrated Throughout the Country

Stressing the theme, "The American Army in Peace," the nation will celebrate tomorrow as Army Day. With countless parades, exhibits, speeches, radio programs and newspaper articles, a tribute is planned to the "G. I." the nation's but deathless hero of World War II—and to the successor of the G. I., the peacetime professional soldier.

This year will mark the eighth annual observance of Army Day. The day, celebrated April 6, to mark the date of our entry into World War I, was inaugurated in 1928 and officially recognized by Congress on March 17, 1937.

Although Army Day has been observed every year since its inception, the last five years have afforded little chance for glorification of the American soldier because he was "too busy earning the right to be glorified."

Army Day will also see a renewed interest in the Army of today and of the future. Tying in with the recruiting program through which the peacetime Army hopes to obtain 1,600,000 voluntary soldiers, a presentation on Army Day of the many important tasks ahead will show the public: 1) why such a large number of volunteers are needed; 2) why so many of them will have to be highly trained and skilled technicians and specialists; and 3) why the Army is offering many new benefits, notably financial, to encourage men to enlist.

First of all, among these important tasks, of course, will be the Army's duties as "Guardian of Victory." Occupation of enemy countries will demand men with translating and interpreting ability, men with a knack of handling people, administrative specialists, military policemen, writers, and teachers who will educate the Germans and Japanese along American lines of democracy.

Another important task is medical research, which will be conducted in the fields of sulfa drugs, penicillin, streptomycin, blood plasma, brain and neural surgery, paralysis, plastic surgery, and many others.

The assignments of the Army Corps of Engineers are staggering. Technicians and specialists will be needed badly. Road building and surveying, flood control, bridge building, water supply, sewage disposal, fire and disease control and drainage all enter into the picture. Building construction, including the scores of proposed veterans' hospitals, is also part of the plan.

The Quartermaster Corps will conduct research in matters of everyday living, including all-purpose soaps (for use in hot or cold water, for washing clothes, even for cleaning teeth) waterproof matches which will light after six hours in water, plastic insoles for shoes made of nylon one-eighth of an inch thick, which keep feet dry because of airtight creases; one-pound stoves convenient for campers; and non-rusting house screens.

entation on Army Day of the many important tasks ahead will show the public: 1) why such a large number of volunteers are needed; 2) why so many of them will have to be highly trained and skilled technicians and specialists; and 3) why the Army is offering many new benefits, notably financial, to encourage men to enlist.

First of all, among these important tasks, of course, will be the Army's duties as "Guardian of Victory." Occupation of enemy countries will demand men with translating and interpreting ability, men with a knack of handling people, administrative specialists, military policemen, writers, and teachers who will educate the Germans and Japanese along American lines of democracy.

Another important task is medical research, which will be conducted in the fields of sulfa drugs, penicillin, streptomycin, blood plasma, brain and neural surgery, paralysis, plastic surgery, and many others.

The assignments of the Army Corps of Engineers are staggering. Technicians and specialists will be needed badly. Road building and surveying, flood control, bridge building, water supply, sewage disposal, fire and disease control and drainage all enter into the picture. Building construction, including the scores of proposed veterans' hospitals, is also part of the plan.

CARRIE H. MORSE

Carrie H. Morse, 79, widow of Jonah D. Morse, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. Wardell McFarland, March 22. She was born in Friendship, daughter of Elbridge and Mary (McLaughlin) Wotton.

Besides her two daughters, Mrs. C. Wardell McFarland, and Mrs. C. Wardell McFarland of South Bristol, who faithfully cared for her during her illness, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Nancy Rogers of Thomaston, a step-son Willey E. Morse, two grandsons, Arthur and Elbridge McFarland, two great grandsons, Arthur Jr. and Frederick McFarland.

Services were held March 25 at the M. E. Church in Friendship. Miss Kathleen Weed, pastor of the M. E. Church, and Rev. William Brusby of the Advent Church officiated. Floral offerings from friends and relatives were many and beautiful. Interment was in the village cemetery. The bearers were Howard Beale, Ralph Winchester, Alfred Morton and Ray Winchester.

Those from out of town who attended the services were Mrs. Nancy Rogers, Mrs. Carrie Morse, Roger Morse and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wotton of Thomaston. Phyllis McFarland.

FRED B. WHITCOMB

Fred Brown Whitcomb of Meredith, N. H., died at the Laconia Hospital Friday after a brief illness in his 74th year.

He was born in Provincetown, Mass., Sept. 7, 1872, son of Samuel and Amelia Stackpole Whitcomb, who moved to Thomaston, when Fred was young and lived on Green street. June 17, 1895, he was married to Sarah Pillsbury of Rockland and three children were born to them—Maurice P. of Caracas, Venezuela; Mrs. Harold E. Hughes of West Medford, Mass., and Mrs. Irwin Sizer of Lexington, Mass.

Mr. Whitcomb was an expert accountant and worked as such for the Navy Department, Agricultural Chemical Company, the Meredith Construction Company, and his own Meredith Variety Store.

Mr. Whitcomb was a fine organizer and was choir master and organist in several New England churches. He went to Meredith 19 years ago and in that time had given his musical services to the Baptist Church of that town. In Meredith he bought the Meredith Variety Store which he and Mrs. Whitcomb have run ever since. The widow, son and two daughters survive him.

The funeral services were held in the Baptist Church in Meredith and conducted by Rev. William Jowett. Three solos were sung by Miss Ethel L. Foster of Plymouth, an intimate friend of the family. After the services Sunday, the family went to Thomaston, where commitment services were held at the family lot on Monday.

To the above obituary written by W. B. Foster, formerly of Thomaston, he adds this personal word: "I stood up at Mr. and Mrs. Whitcomb's marriage 50 years ago last June 17 and again at the 50th anniversary in Meredith. I have known them intimately since and have never had a truer friend than Fred Whitcomb. A short time ago he had a heart attack and said to me, "Billy, a while ago I thought you would be the first to go, but I guess now I will be the one. More than a few will miss his true hearted generosity.

Follow The Band

(By Lee Connellan and Richard Jones)

Foreword. There are many bands, orchestras, or just plain groups of music lovers, springing up all around us, every day. It is the purpose of this column to back up these various groups of Rockland, Thomaston, and other Knox County music lovers, and to inform the general public of the various activities of the Rockland Bands-Drinkwater, Clark, many others, who are sure to follow. This article will never be partial to any particular group of players, and it will print the truth at all times.

To start let us follow the obvious course, Wayne Drinkwater. This boy, by his earnest work has carried himself a long way.

We all remember "The Music Makers," the name which he originally used, when many of us may have patronized him, "just to help of 'Dad' Harvey and 'Bud' Clark, he has become as good as there is in these here parts."

Bud Clark, noted band leader, before the war, has recently rejoined his old cronies and soon will appear publicly.

Dad Harvey, noted trumpet player, since his return from the Navy, has been coaching Drinkwater's band, and making it "big time." It was under Dad's direction, that the name "Music Makers," was changed to "The Eight Royal Blues," as it stands today.

Drinkwater's boys remain about the same. There are it is true, a few changes, but these for the most part, are additions to the band.

Tony Gustin, Dick Pease, Bob Puslaw, Donnie Marsh, Norman Hammond, Stanley Walsh, these veterans, remain.

Dick McIntosh a new addition looks very promising, and seems to be an asset to the band. Bud Clark on Monday will feature a mixture of his band, and Wayne's boys, who, playing together at the Spring Formal Dance, will make this dance a "must" on dancers' schedules everywhere.

We find from attending Sunday afternoon rehearsals, that Virginia Chapman, Gail Clark, and Paul Payson, have been considered for singing positions, on either of the bands. Probably they will have their real try-out at the Spring Formal Dance on Monday.

Rumor has it that Eddie Hustus is starting up a band—we've heard this song before. But if you're serious Ed, go to it. We'll back you all the way, and wish you luck. The more orchestras to follow, the better, is our motto, in "Follow the Bands."

Kitchenette Sauerkraut: "Kitchenette" sauerkraut that remains white clear to the top of the jar, and also contains a maximum amount of vitamin C, can be easily made at home under an improved process developed by Helen Parsons and co-workers at the University of Wisconsin. In the past the fruit-jar method has been open to the objection that, because part of the liquid bubbles over during fermentation, the top layer of kraut often is exposed to the air, dries out, and discolors. The new step solves the problem: As the liquid goes down the jars are refilled to the top with boiling brine made up of two table-spoonsful of salt to a quart of water. If the temperature is in the 70s, brine is added about the third day after making the kraut, and again about ten days later. The jars are sealed tightly after the last rebrining.

Kansas is more than proud of Gen. Ike. From Allied Supreme Headquarters to a schoolteacher of his boyhood: "I cannot tell you what a glow of satisfaction came over me to realize that you are still actively participating in those things that mean progress in Kansas and in our whole country. The example you gave us of a kindly and sympathetic instructor and of an individual completely devoted to his duty, has lived with me all these years." Thanks to The Christian Science Monitor for the letter and story of May 19 ("Little Ike's Home Town," Magazine Section). What a recruiting message for commencements, assemblies, and school papers in 1945!

Rockland Lions

Dr. Soule Takes Them To Far Away Land Where He Served During the War

The Rockland Lions Club Wednesday again drew from its own ranks for a guest speaker and once more was highly pleased with the result. The speaker chosen this time was Dr. Gilmore W. Soule, who told most interestingly of his service in the Aleutians, and displayed numerous photographs taken by him during his stay there.

Attu, where Dr. Soule was assigned in May, 1943, was the scene of an American offensive against the Japanese, and was the first American territory regained from them. When Dr. Soule landed in April, 1944 the Aleutian theatre was already inactive in a military sense, and all but the few men participating in harassing raids suffered frustration from lack of combat and fought weather, inertia and loneliness.

Attu Island is 50 miles long and 20 miles wide, and is about 650 miles from Siberia and 650 miles from the most northerly base of the main defense of Japan. Lying between the 51st and 55th parallels it is in the same latitude as England, Northern France and Germany. Most of the islands are rugged and mountainous.

Dr. Soule had the unusual and thrilling experience of flying over one of the active volcanoes at midnight last June and seeing molten lava boiling over the crater rim.

The Aleutian weather is really bad. The temperatures are moderate and fairly uniform averaging about 33° F in winter and 50° F in summer. On Attu the coldest of three winters it was 15 above. The hottest day Dr. Soule can remember it was 65. Cold winds from Siberia produce fog, rain, mist and snow.

The Aleutians abound in animal life and although there are no native land mammals in the western islands, there are whales, seals, sea lions, sea otters, birds, fish, clams, mussels and sea urchins; also a rich and varied growth of grasses, heather and flowers.

When he went to the Aleutians Dr. Soule was assigned to the 11th Air Force, and arriving at Attu he became assistant base surgeon at the 397th Air Base. This Base supported the action of the 77th Bomb Group which flew 1300-mile round trip raids over the Kuriles and supported two fighter groups maintaining a vigilant defense of the island. The first few months Dr. Soule ship will hold a supper meeting in the vestry at 6:30 p. m. Members are to bring their own box of refreshments. Dr. Lowe will describe the world famous Easter Sunrise Service held each year on the summit of Mt. Rubideau, Riverside, Calif., as he conducted it in 1918.

was on the island one Pacific hut comprised the dispensary for 1200 men at the Air Base proper. Later there was a consolidated dispensary 60 feet long with excellent medical facilities for diagnosis and treatment.

The doctor's work primarily, was to see men on "sick call" each morning, to give first aid in accident cases, and take ambulance calls for crack landings of planes. The Navy also had a well equipped hospital and the Navy Air units maintained dispensaries.

Living conditions on Attu improved continually with radio programs and moving pictures. The premier of "Going My Way" was shown there. The food was adequate in calories, 3300 of them daily.

They had plenty of butter, sugar, macaroni, potatoes and meat and plenty of K rations. Usually plenty of cigarettes, but no fresh eggs, no fresh milk and very few fresh vegetables and fruits. And no lobster, Dr. Soule added with emphasis.

Occasionally a U.S.O. show troupe arrived on the island—some good, some not so good. Letters from home were the greatest morale builders.

Dr. Soule felt that he was more fortunate than most of the men, first because he was a doctor and knew he had to adjust himself, and then, coming from Maine, he wasn't afraid of Nature and the elements. He took hikes, went fishing, and joined a glee club. The men from the farms adjusted themselves best. Fishing they caught a 36-inch Dolly Varden trout and a 10-pound salmon.

The monotony was terrible, with lack of normal home and family life. No "junior proms" no corner drug store.

We've Got A Baby!

Haven't you heard? Why the news is all over town.

Yes, we've had trouble with Baby. You see, it's a 'colic' baby. We've 'burped' it after each feeding but it doesn't seem to do much good.

We've been up nights—we've cradled it—we've rocked it—and we've walked it. But it's still 'colic'.

We call our Baby 'Shirts.' It was left on our doorstep and so we had to adopt it. We know why it has the 'colic'—that is quite simple—because our allotment of shirts is only 300 for 5,000 people.

That's why 'Shirts' has kept us up nights. Trying to figure out how we can make 300 shirts go onto 5,000 people. We've tried every prescription; but we're still stumped.

As soon as the manufacturers increase 'Shirts' formula, we know he will be better. In the meantime, we hope that you will bear with us until 'Shirts' gets better. We'll be so happy then we'll tell the world.

a "One Man Gang" ON YOUR FARM

CHURNING • HUSKING • THRESHING • HAY BALING
BROODING • MILKING • ELEVATING • SPRAY

The farmer who is making the fullest use of electricity is the farmer who is making the most money today. Manpower cannot compete with electric power. Electricity costs nothing unless it is working. It is otherwise with men and animals! Compared with the cost of human labor it is pennies against dollars. Five cents' worth of electricity can do as much mechanical work as a man can do in an eight hour day. And it's so versatile... so dependable!

Figure out what greater use you can make of electricity on your farm and you will have the answer to making more money and reducing your drudgery and worries, too. See your nearest dealer or Central Maine Power Company representative—they'll be happy to help you with your problems.
